Management Discussion and Analysis

Financial Review

Economic and Financial Environment

In the first half of 2011, the global economic recovery slowed as multiple risk factors came to the fore. Levels of inflation continued to soar. The US real estate market remained in depression, and concerns over the creditworthiness of US government debt emerged. US domestic consumption growth slowed, and the US Federal Reserve maintained a monetary policy based on near zero interest rates and quantitative easing. The European economy underwent an unbalanced recovery as the Eurozone's sovereign debt crisis deteriorated and the European Central Bank raised interest rates in an effort to tackle inflation. In Japan, the March 11 earthquake and tsunami created an adverse impact on the global supply chain and caused the economy to sink into recession. Political unrest in the Middle East and North Africa pushed up international oil prices, while rapid Consumer Price Index (CPI) growth in Asian and Latin American emerging markets ensured that their monetary policies remained tight. This combination of a slowdown in economic growth and rising inflation caused international financial markets to return to a volatile state in the second quarter. Major share indices decreased, and government bond yields declined significantly. In addition, the US dollar index became unstable and began to slide, and commodity prices fell.

Faced with a complicated and volatile international environment and emerging domestic development challenges, the Chinese government firmly implemented a pro-active fiscal policy and prudent monetary policy, thus continuously strengthening and improving macro controls. As a result, the national economy continued to show strong development momentum in line with macro expectations. The People's Bank of China (PBOC) raised benchmark interest rates of deposits and loans twice and increased the mandatory reserve ratio for RMB deposits six times. In the first half of 2011, compared with the same period of the previous year, Gross Domestic Product on the Chinese mainland grew by 9.6%, the CPI increased by 5.4%, investment in fixed assets (excluding rural households) grew by 25.6%, total retail sales of consumer goods rose by 16.8%, the total value of foreign trade increased by 25.8%, and the trade surplus dropped by 18.2%, indicating a better balance in the international balance of payments.

China's domestic financial system continued to operate stably. The RMB exchange rate regime was further improved, with the exchange rate of RMB against US dollar appreciating by 2.3%. The total volume of social financing amounted to RMB7.76 trillion. The broad measure of money supply (M2), RMB-denominated loan balance of financial institutions and outstanding RMB-denominated deposits rose by 15.9%, 16.9% and 17.6%, respectively, year on year. As at the end of June 2011, impacted by changes to the international financial environment, domestic real estate regulations and the tightening of liquidity, the Shanghai Stock Exchange composite index and the total market capitalisation of the Shanghai and Shenzhen exchanges dropped by 1.6% and 0.5%, respectively, compared with the end of last year. The value of share trading, however, rose by 9.1% compared with the first half of 2010. The volume of bond issuance expanded and bond markets experienced more active trading, with the market value of the outstanding bonds growing by 1.2% from the end of 2010.

Major factors impacting the Group's net interest margin included:

- (1) Significant progress in business structure realignment. Since the start of 2011, in response to changes in the external business environment, the Bank took comprehensive measures to strengthen its asset and liability management and adjust and optimise its portfolio while performing efficient allocation on an incremental basis. This led to further optimisation of its asset and liability structure. As at the end of June 2011, total assets of the Group stood at RMB11.48 trillion, an increase of 9.79% compared with the prior year-end. The RMB-denominated assets of the Group were RMB8.80 trillion, increased by 10.92% compared with the prior year-end, and represented 76.63% of the Group's total assets, an increase of 0.78 percentage point from the prior year-end. Domestic demand deposits accounted for 47.08%, an increase of 0.12 percentage point compared with the prior year-end.
- (2) Steady improvements in pricing capability. Fully exerting its competitive advantages in terms of global presence and diversified services, the Bank strengthened interest rate management in order to provide comprehensive and quality financial services to its customers. In the first half of 2011, the interest rates of newly added RMB and USD loans granted on the Chinese mainland increased by 1.00 percentage point and 0.71 percentage point, respectively, compared with the prior year.
- (3) Increases in RMB benchmark interest rates and market interest rates. The benchmark interest rates for one-year RMB deposits and loans increased by a total of 1.0 percentage point, and the reserve ratio for RMB deposits increased by 4.5 percentage points from 17.0% at the end of June 2010 to 21.5%. Report on Review of Interim Financial Information

羅兵咸永道

To the Board of Directors of Bank of China Limited
(Incorporated in the People's Republic of China with limited liability)

Introduction

We have reviewed the interim financial information set out on pages 69 to 160, which comprises the condensed consolidated statement of financial position of Bank of China Limited (the "Bank") and its subsidiaries (together, the "Group") as at 30 June 2011 and the related condensed consolidated statements of income, comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for the six month period then ended, and a summary of significant accounting policies and other explanatory notes (the "Interim Financial Information"). The Rules Governing the Listing of Securities on The Stock Exchange of Hong Kong Limited require the preparation of a report on interim financial information to be in compliance with the relevant provisions thereof and International Accounting Standard 34 "Interim Financial Reporting". The directors of the Bank are responsible for the preparation and presentation of this Interim Financial Information in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34 "Interim Financial Reporting". Our responsibility is to express a conclusion on this Interim Financial Information based on our review and to report our conclusion solely to you, as a body, in accordance with our agreed terms of engagement and for no other purpose. We do not assume responsibility towards or accept liability to any other person for the contents of this report.

Scope of review

We conducted our review in accordance with International Standard on Review Engagements 2410, "Review of Interim Financial Information Performed by the Independent Auditor of the Entity". A review of interim financial information consists of making inquiries, primarily of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters, and applying analytical and other review procedures. A review is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with International Standards on Auditing and consequently does not enable us to obtain assurance that we would become aware of all significant matters that might be identified in an audit. Accordingly, we do not express an audit opinion.

Conclusion

Based on our review, nothing has come to our attention that causes us to believe that the Interim Financial Information is not prepared, in all material respects, in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34 "Interim Financial Reporting".

I BASIS OF PRESENTATION AND PRINCIPAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The unaudited condensed consolidated interim financial information for the six month period ended 30 June 2011 has been prepared in accordance with International Accounting Standard 34, Interim Financial Reporting (“IAS 34”) and should be read in conjunction with the annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2010.

Except as described below, the principal accounting policies adopted in the preparation of the unaudited condensed consolidated interim financial information are consistent with those used in the Group’s annual financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2010.

Standards, amendments and interpretations effective in 2011

On 1 January 2011, the Group adopted the following new standards, amendments and interpretations.

IAS 24 Revised	Related Party Disclosures
IAS 34 Amendment (included in Annual Improvements 2010)	Interim financial reporting
IFRIC 13	Customer loyalty programmes
IFRIC 14 Amendment	Prepayments of a Minimum Funding Requirement
IFRIC 19	Extinguishing Financial Liabilities with Equity Instruments

The Group has adopted the partial exemption regarding disclosure requirements for transactions with government-related entities in the consolidated financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2010. Full Adoption of IAS 24 Revised effective from 1 January 2011 has resulted in additional disclosure for commitments with related parties. The Group has made relevant disclosures in Note III.30.

The IAS 34 Amendment emphasises the existing disclosure principles in IAS 34 and adds further guidance to illustrate how to apply these principles. Additional requirements address the disclosure of changes to fair value measurement (if significant), and the need to update relevant information from the most recent annual report. The Group has made relevant disclosures in Note IV.4.

The adoption of other standards, amendments and interpretations does not have a significant impact on the operating results, financial position or comprehensive income of the Group.

• IFRS 12 – Disclosure of Interests in Other Entities	1 January 2013
• IFRS 13 – Fair Value Measurement	1 January 2013

IAS 1 Amendment requires to separate items presented in other comprehensive income into two groups based on whether or not they may be recycled to profit or loss in the future.

IAS 19 Amendment makes changes to the recognition and measurement of defined benefit pension expense and termination benefits, and to the disclosures for all employee benefits. The most significant change is that actuarial gains and losses will be recognized in other comprehensive income rather than operating expenses.

IFRS 7 Amendment introduces new disclosure requirement on transfers of financial assets.

I BASIS OF PRESENTATION AND PRINCIPAL ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

Standards, amendments and interpretations that are not yet effective and have not been adopted early by the Group in 2011 (Continued)

The five new standards (IFRS 10, IFRS 11, IFRS 12, IAS 27 and IAS 28) establish new guidance for consolidation and joint arrangements and principally address:

- A revised definition of control for the purposes of determining which arrangements should be consolidated;
- A reduction in the types of joint arrangements to two: joint operations and joint ventures, and classification based on rights and obligations rather than legal structure;
- Elimination of the policy choice of proportionate consolidation for joint ventures; and
- New requirements to disclose significant judgements and assumptions in determining whether an entity controls, jointly controls or significantly influences its interests in other entities.

IFRS 13 defines and sets out in a single IFRS a framework for measuring fair value, and requires disclosures about fair value measurement.

Description of the amendments under IAS 12 Amendment, IFRS 9 and IFRS 9 Amendment has been disclosed in the consolidated statements of the Group for the year ended 31 December 2010.

The Group is considering the impact of the standards on the consolidated financial statements.

II CRITICAL ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES AND JUDGEMENTS IN APPLYING ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Except as described below, the nature and assumptions related to the Group's accounting estimates are consistent with those adopted in the Group's financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2010.

On 15 June 2011, BOC Hong Kong Group jointly announced with 13 other distributing banks that have distributed Lehman Brothers minibonds ("Minibonds") in Hong Kong the final resolution of certain series of Minibonds ("Final Resolution"). As part of this Final Resolution, the distributing banks made a voluntary offer to pay ex gratia payments to eligible customers and agreed to provide further funding to the trustee of the Minibonds ("Trustee") to pay for expenses which may be incurred in connection with the recovery of the underlying collateral of the Minibonds and the Trustee's role in respect of the Minibonds. The net amount recovered by BOC Hong Kong Group from the underlying collateral of Minibonds, after deducting the ex gratia payments and provision for trustee expenses, was credited to operating expenses in the condensed consolidated income statement for the six month period ended 30 June 2011 (Note III.5).

14 Derivative financial instruments

The Group enters into foreign currency exchange rate, interest rate, equity, credit, precious metals and other commodity related derivative financial instruments for trading, hedging, asset and liability management and on behalf of customers.

The contractual/notional amounts and fair values of derivative instruments held by the Group are set out in the following tables. The contractual/notional amounts of financial instruments provide a basis for comparison with fair value instruments recognised on the statement of financial position but do not necessarily indicate the amounts of future cash flows involved or the current fair value of the instruments and, therefore, do not indicate the Group's exposure to credit or market risks. The derivative instruments become favourable (assets) or unfavourable (liabilities) as a result of fluctuations in market interest rates or foreign exchange rates or equity/commodity prices relative to their terms. The aggregate fair values of derivative financial assets and liabilities can fluctuate significantly from time to time.

(3) Loans and advances rescheduled

Rescheduling (referring to loans and other assets that have been restructured and renegotiated) is a voluntary or, to a limited extent, court-supervised procedure, through which the Group and a borrower and/or its guarantor, if any, reschedule credit terms as a result of deterioration in the borrower's financial condition or of the borrower's inability to make payments when due. The Group reschedules a non-performing loan only if the borrower has good prospects. In addition, prior to approving the rescheduling of loans, the Group typically requires additional guarantees, pledges and/or collateral, or the assumption of the loan by a borrower with better repayment ability.

All rescheduled loans are classified as "substandard" or below. All rescheduled loans are subject to a surveillance period for six months. During the surveillance period, rescheduled loans remain as non-performing loans and the Group monitors the borrower's business operations and loan repayment patterns. After the surveillance period, rescheduled loans may be upgraded to "special-mention" upon review if certain criteria are met. If the rescheduled loans fall overdue or if the borrower is unable to demonstrate its repayment ability, these loans will be reclassified to "doubtful" or below. All rescheduled loans are determined to be impaired, therefore, there were no rescheduled loans that were not past due or impaired as at 30 June 2011 and 31 December 2010.

As at 30 June 2011 and 31 December 2010, within impaired loans and advances, rescheduled loans and advances that were overdue for 90 days or less were insignificant.

The credit risk weighted amounts represent the counterparty credit risk associated with derivative transactions and are calculated with reference to the guidelines issued by the CBRC or Hong Kong Monetary Authority as appropriate and are dependent on, among other factors, the creditworthiness of the customer and the maturity characteristics of each type of contract.

The credit risk weighted amounts of derivative financial instruments are as follow:

2 Market Risk

2.1 Market risk measurement techniques and limits

(1) Trading book

Market risk in the trading book is managed by establishing Value at Risk (VaR) limits. Total exposure, stress testing and utilisation of VaR are monitored on a daily basis for each trading desk and dealer.

VaR is used to estimate the largest potential loss arising from adverse market movements in a specific holding period and within a certain confidence level.

VaR is performed separately by the Bank and its major subsidiaries that are exposed to market risk, BOC Hong Kong (Holdings) Limited (“BOCHK”) and BOC International Holdings Limited (“BOCI”). The Bank, BOCHK and BOCI used a 99% level of confidence (therefore 1% statistical probability that actual losses could be greater than the VaR estimate) and a historical simulation model to calculate the VaR. The holding period of the VaR calculations is one day. To enhance the Group’s market risk management, in 2010, the Group has also established the market risk data mart, which enabled Group level trading book VaR calculation on a daily basis.

Accuracy and reliability of the VaR model is verified by daily back-testing the VaR result on the trading book. The back-testing results are regularly reported to senior management.

Stress testing is performed based on the characteristics of trading transactions to simulate and estimate losses in adverse and exceptional market conditions. The Group sets stress testing limits, adjusts and enhances the scenarios for stress testing taking into account financial market fluctuations in order to capture the potential impact of market price fluctuations and volatility on the trading book, enhancing the Group’s market risk management capabilities.

The table below shows the VaR of the trading book by types of risk:

Total Bank trading VaR	1.08	1.89	0.60	4.74	10.29	1.87

The Bank's VaR for the six month period ended 30 June 2010 was calculated on Head Office and branches in Chinese mainland trading positions, excluding foreign currency against RMB transactions. For the six month period ended 30 June 2011, the Bank expanded the scope of its VaR calculation based on the Group's trading positions excluding those of BOCHK and BOCI and excluding foreign currency against RMB transactions.

The reporting of risk in relation to bullion is included in foreign exchange risk above. The exposure of the Bank to potential price movement in other commodity derivatives and the related potential impact on the Bank's income statement are considered to be insignificant.

* BOCI monitors its trading VaR for equity derivatives unit and fixed income unit separately, which include interest rate risk, foreign exchange risk and equity risk.

VaR for each risk factor is the independently derived largest potential loss in a specific holding period and within a certain confidence level due to fluctuations solely in that risk factor. The individual VaRs did not add up to the total VaR as there was diversification effect due to correlation amongst the risk factors.

(2) Banking book

The banking book is exposed to interest rate risk arising from mismatches in maturities, repricing periods and inconsistent adjustments between the benchmark interest rates of assets and liabilities. The Group manages interest rate risk in the banking book primarily through interest rate repricing gap analysis. The interest rate gap analysis is set out in Note IV.2.2 and also covers the trading books.

2.4 Price risk

The Group is exposed to equity risk on its available for sale listed equity securities. As at 30 June 2011, a 5 per cent variance in listed equity prices from the 30 June 2011 price would impact the fair value of available for sale listed equity positions by RMB317 million (31 December 2010: RMB301 million). For those available for sale equities considered impaired, the impact would be taken to the income statement. The Group is also exposed to commodity risk, mainly related to bullion. The Group manages such risk together with foreign exchange risk (Note IV.2.1).
