

Target Market Determination – Cash Management Call Account (Non-Individual customers)

This is the target market determination (TMD) for the purposes of section 994B of the Corporations Act 2001 (Cth) (Corporations Act) for the Cash Management Account (Product).

The issuer of the Product is Bank of China Limited ABN 29 002 979 955 AFSL 230 547 (Bank). This TMD sets out certain information relevant to the Bank's compliance with the design and distribution (DDO) framework in the Corporations Act, including the:

- class of consumers that makes up the target market for the Product;
- conditions that will be imposed on the distribution of the Product;
- requirements for the Bank to review the TMD; and
- requirements for distributors to report certain information to the Bank.

This TMD does not provide a complete list of the features and terms and conditions of the Product. This TMD should be read in conjunction with the Savings, Investment and Term Deposit Accounts Terms and Conditions, the Account Access Methods Conditions of Use and the Schedule of Fees and Charges and other information available on the Bank's website in relation to the Product. A copy of these documents can be accessed on the Bank's website at www.bankofchina.com/au or from Bank of China branches in Australia (operated by the Bank and its related entities) during business hours (free of charge). If an application for the Product is approved, the particular Product will be governed by the Savings, Investment and Term Deposit Account Terms and Conditions.

This TMD has been prepared without taking into account any person's individual needs, objectives, or financial situation. If you are considering a Cash Management Call Account, we encourage you to understand how it may affect your personal circumstances and seek professional advice (such as, independent legal and financial advice).

Capitalised terms have the meaning given to them in the Savings, Investment and Term Deposit Account Terms and Conditions, unless otherwise defined.

- are looking for a transaction account for day to day transactions, including a transaction account with additional features such as an overdraft or cheque book facility;
- require use of BPAY to pay bills;
- require a link to direct debit and/or direct credit; or
- require an account in respect of which the funds are protected by the Financial Claims Scheme or guaranteed by the Australian Government and in respect of which they would receive priority ahead of amounts owed to other creditors.

Explanation of why the product is likely to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of consumers in the target market

The Bank considers that the Product is likely to be consistent with the likely objectives, financial situation and needs of customers in the target because:

- this Product is an investment account for business purposes;
- this Product offers the ability to earn a higher interest rate;
- this Product enables customers to easily manage, access and transact on their account including through the use of internet banking;
- this Product has low fees and, as an investment account, is low risk in nature;
- this Product can be used for a wide range of potential financial situations for non-individual customers; and
- this Product provides the ability for customers to transact in AUD and USD only.

Distribution Conditions	Distribution conditions This Product can only be distributed in branch (through one of the Bank of China branches in Australia) by a Relationship Manager of the Bank at the branch who is authorised to distribute this Product. Why the distribution conditions and restrictions will make it more likely that the consumers who acquire the product are in the target market The Bank considers that the distribution conditions mean that it is likely that customers who acquire the Product will be in the target market because: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the Bank’s distribution channel for this Product is restricted to its branch network and is only able to be distributed by the Bank’s Relationship Managers who are authorised to sell the product to non-individual customers; • Relationship Managers must be authorised by the Bank to distribute this Product and are required to complete relevant training in relation to the Product and the distribution of the Product; and • the Product is only made available to non-individual customers using consistent approval processes that allow the Bank the opportunity to check all applications before they are approved for consistency with the Bank's eligibility criteria for the Product.
Review Triggers	The review triggers that would reasonably suggest that the TMD is no longer appropriate include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • there are significant changes to the key attributes of the Product as described in this document that make it reasonable to conclude that it would no longer be consistent with the TMD; • there are significant changes to the methods of distribution of the Product that make it reasonable to conclude that the TMD does not reflect the actual distribution methods used by the Bank; • there are unexpectedly high rates of account closures or customers switching to other accounts offered by the Bank within a 12 month period (except where explainable by external factors unrelated to product attributes or distribution arrangements); • the Bank identifies a significant dealing of the Product outside the target market that it is required to report to ASIC; • a significant number of complaints are received from customers in relation to their purchase or use of the Product that reasonably suggests that the TMD is no longer appropriate; and • ASIC has utilised its product intervention power in Part 7.9A of the Corporations Act to intervene in relation to this product.

Review Periods	Initial review date: Within 1 year from 5 October 2021. Periodic reviews: Within 3 years after the initial review date and each subsequent review date after that.
Distribution Reporting Requirements	The following information must be provided to Bank of China Limited, Sydney Branch by distributors who engage in product distribution conduct in relation to this Product:
	Type of information	Description	Reporting period
	Complaints	Number of complaints, nature and substance of the complaint	Every 6 months within 10 business days from the end of the period
Significant dealing(s) ¹	Date or date range of the significant dealing(s) and description of the significant dealing (e.g. why it is not consistent with the TMD)	As soon as practicable, and in any case within 10 business days after becoming aware

¹ For example, a distributor may consider a dealing outside the TMD to be significant because (i) they represent a material proportion of the overall distribution conduct carried out by the distributor in relation to the product, or (ii) they constitute an individual transaction which has resulted in, or will or is likely to result in, significant detriment to the consumer (or class of consumer), or (iii) the issuer has reasonably identified the this type of dealing as significant or a regulator, court or AFCA identifies this type of dealing as significant.
