A markup on the reference exchange rate if customer converts from a foreign currency into euro or another foreign currency (buying rate). A markdown on the reference exchange rate if customer converts from euro or another foreign currency into the respective foreign currency (selling rate).

Renminbi held, traded and used for payment in the People's Republic of China (mainland China) constitute onshore renminbi (ISO code CNY). Outside of mainland China, this constitutes "offshore renminbi – Hong Kong trading" (CNH). However, as "CNH" is not registered as a code with the International Organization for Standardization (ISO), it is not used in payment services nor for account information. Renminbi that customers hold, trade or use for payment at Bank of China in Germany constitute offshore renminbi (CNH) although the ISO code CNY must be used in customers' payment orders, transaction statements and account information.*

If a purchase or sale of foreign currency cannot be executed on the day of settlement during the ordinary course of business, the bank will use the reference exchange rate of the following day as its basis for exchange. If the customer issues a transfer order in a currency other than the currency of the account, the account is still debited in the currency of the account. The exchange rate is determined in accordance with the aforementioned rule. For transactions in foreign currency initiated by use of cards the bank cashes with rates which are received from the international card organization in Euro. If a foreign exchange is done thru use of cards at a POS terminal there is 1% markup fee.

The foreign exchange of card turnovers in other currencies can be inquired under:

Debit Mastercard / Maestro Debit Card:

<https://www.mastercard.de/de-de/mastercard-fuer-sie/support/waehrungsrechner.html>

UnionPay Debit Card:

<https://www.unionpayintl.com/cardholderServ/serviceCenter/rate?language=en>

The mark-up on the exchange rates of the international card organization Mastercard for card payments in foreign currencies within the European Economic Area (EEA) on the last available euro reference exchange rate of the European Central Bank (ECB) is shown on <https://www.travelprepaid.mastercard.com/rates>. This percentage mark-up is calculated as a currency conversion fee.

Any changes in the rules of the determination for foreign exchange rates will be in effect immediately and without prior notice to the customer.

VIII. Out-of-court dispute resolution

The bank participates in the dispute resolution scheme operated by the consumer arbitration body „The German Private Banks’ Ombudsman“ (www.bankenombudsmann.de).
